

6th September 2012

Zed Lettings have only been managing my property for a short while but during this time they have bent over backwards to give me a service that I have not found elsewhere. They have helped me enormously to resolve various issues in recent months, something that has proved imperative for me as a non-resident landlord.

Every member of the team has worked incredibly hard to ensure a smooth and relatively pain-free outcome for both myself and my tenants. This is surely an invaluable provision of service to both landlord and tenant alike.

They all respond to e-mails quickly and promptly and have sometimes sent me e-mails in the early hours of the morning. This undoubtedly shows dedication and commitment to their work and to the quality of service they constantly strive to provide.

Finally, I feel happy that Zed Lettings are managing my property to the best of their ability and hope that their success continues for some time to come.
